What is a “Community College”?

Community colleges, also known as 2-year or Junior Colleges, are regionally accredited post-secondary institutions at which the AS or AA (Associates of Science or Arts) is the highest degree awarded. A BS or BA (Bachelor of Science or Arts) is earned from a 4 year college or university. Community colleges offer technical, transferable and continuing education or specialized curriculums.

1. Community Colleges:

- community based institutions that establish links and partnerships with high schools and the community
- deliver high quality programs at times and places for the convenience of the student
- have admission policies that are open to those with high school diplomas or its equivalent
- have tuition and fees that are approximately half of those at a 4 year college
- save students the cost of living on campus

2. Community Colleges offer:

- transfer curriculums that provide the first 2 years leading toward the bachelor’s degree
- occupational-technical programs that prepare students for employment
- programs that assist students with upgrading of skills they already use
- programs that help students improve their basic academic skills
- certifications that may be completed in a few weeks up to 2 years.

Community College to University Transfers

Would you like to attend ASU or NAU but it may seem to be out of reach for right now? www.AZTransfer.com contains information about transfer programs, college majors, and a list of which community college courses transfer to one of the Arizona universities.

There are two programs that might help you transfer from a community college to a university. ASU has the MAPP program. NAU has the Connect2NAU.

The nine Maricopa Community Colleges offers a program called MAPP which is a transfer program to ASU.

You attend any of their colleges for up to three years and complete the lower division requirements for your major at the community college. You then transfer to ASU for another 2 years to complete your bachelor's degree. ASU has over 250 majors that have MAPP course outlines online: www.transfer.asu.edu. Admission counselors at the community colleges can guide you. If you are interested in doing this program, make sure the admission counselor knows of your plans.

As part of the MAPP program, you become eligible for the tuition commitment program. Your tuition at ASU will be locked in at the tuition rate of the year that you begin the program at the community college.

If you choose the NAU program, you will be enrolled at the community college and NAU at the same time. You will be working on both an associate's and bachelor's degree.

NAU offers classes locally, online and in Flagstaff. As part of this program you have access to NAU resources such as their library. There are $2000 merit based scholarships available for NAU tuition for qualified students.

At least two semesters before you complete your community college classes, contact either ASU or NAU to ensure smooth transfer.

Transfer Student Center

The University of Arizona also has a transfer program. Information at www.admissions.arizona.edu/transfer. You may transfer 24 credit hours. At least two semesters before you complete your community college classes, contact U of A Transfer Students to ensure a smooth transfer.

What are “Vocational and Technical Schools”?

Vocational or technical schools prepare high school graduates for a career or a specific job. The relationship between education and work has long been recognized as important. Private vocational/technical schools are “for profit” institutions. Student tuition is the primary source of their funding. Community colleges are “not for profit”. Check your local community colleges to compare vocational programs for costs and class offerings before choosing a school. Also check with the school about their regional accreditation. This regional accreditation allows students to test for national licenses for certain careers.

Vocational-Technical schools offer:

- hands-on experience
- classrooms that represent how work is done on the actual job
- instructors who are experienced in the subject, teach the necessary skills in the shortest time possible
- assistance with job placement upon completion of training
- students with this training have an advantage in learning new skills at the workplace, since their training has provided basic thinking and problem solving skills

How to pay for college...

Scholarships and waivers awarded to students with good grades, athletic ability or musical or other talents. These do not have to be repaid.

Grants

based on financial need. These do not have to be repaid.

Loans

available to students (and parents) with financial need. These must be repaid after a student leaves school.

College work study available to students with financial need. This federal employment program helps students reduce the cost of their education by allowing them to work on college campuses.

Campus employment

available to students with or without financial need.

Application Process

1. Application

- obtain from the website or from the college itself
- allow sufficient time to complete the application noting the deadline for submission
- complete the application and follow the instructions exactly
- use your full legal name - no nicknames
- have someone proofread your application
- double check that you have included all requested materials before submitting
- send application fees or completed fee waiver

2. Entrance exams

- universities and 4 year colleges usually require that you take SAT or ACT
- community colleges usually give a placement test for math and reading

3. Essay

- some applications ask for an essay – especially applying to Honors Colleges
- write only on the requested topic
- ask a teacher to look over your essay
- check your spelling and grammar
- type your essay or write legibly
- keep a copy for yourself

4. Letters of Recommendation

- choose your writer carefully - someone who knows you well and can write positively about you
- give the writer 1-2 weeks to complete the recommendation
- give the writer information about yourself (resume) and the exact use for the letter
- do not submit a copy of a previous recommendation
- send a thank you note to the writer

5. Resume

- list of your education, jobs, community service, etc. in an organized format
- list of references - people who know you well - with phone numbers, addresses, email - ask them for permission first
- include any educational or occupational goals
- this is helpful for the writer of your letter of recommendation

6. Financial Aid

- most colleges and universities require you and your family to fill out the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA)
- fill in online at: www.fafsa.ed.gov

What else you will need....

Colleges need certain documentation during the admission process. The sooner the admissions office has all of them, the sooner you will know about your admission status.

1. High School Transcripts

- these will be sent after you submit your college application online
- before you graduate you must request a final transcript be sent to the college you will be attending
- these may include scores of tests (AIMS, Stanford 10 and SAT/ACT) you took while in high school

2. Health Records

- you will need to furnish your shot records to your college
- these may be obtained from the Health Center at your high school or from your doctor

3. Athletes

- to compete at the college level, the NCAA Clearinghouse Application or the NAIA Application must be completed
- the necessary forms are on their websites at: www.ncaaclearinghouse.net or www.naia.org
- send admission applications to the college admission office not the athletic office
- ACT or SAT scores are required for college athletes

2017-18 FAFSA Information

Apply online at www.fafsa.ed.gov

Most universities and colleges ask students to complete this form. Contact your school for the date of a FAFSA night for help in completing this form. FAFSA determines qualifications for many grants, loans & work-study programs colleges can award students.

Free help is available on College Goal FAFSA events. Check for times & places at: www.collegegoal.az.gov/college-goal-fafsa

FAFSA 2018-2019 school year website opens October 1.

What you will need:

- Completed 2016 income tax forms from student & parents (IRS Form 1040, 1040A or 1040EZ not W-2 form)
- social security numbers (student & parents)
- driver's license numbers
- parents' date of marriage or divorce
- list of colleges you want to receive your FAFSA information
- you will create a FSA-ID number for yourself & for 1 parent to sign FAFSA electronically
 - save these FSA-ID numbers as they will be used every year you are in college

Make any corrections requested by FAFSA in a timely manner. Check your college website for money awarded through FAFSA. You may receive an email from FAFSA with your EFC amount that will tell you if you qualified for a Pell Grant.

American Opportunity Credit Helps Pay for the First Four Years of College

The American opportunity credit replaces the existing Hope credit, making it available to a broader range of taxpayers. Income guidelines are expanded and required course materials are added to the list of qualified expenses. Many of those eligible will qualify for the maximum annual credit of $2,500 per student.

The American opportunity credit, in many cases, offers greater tax savings than existing education tax breaks. Here are some key features of the credit:

- Tuition, related fees, books and other required course materials generally qualify. In the past, books usually were not eligible for education-related credits and deductions.
- The credit is equal to 100 percent of the first $2,500 spent and 25 percent of the next $2,000. That means the full $2,500 credit may be available to a taxpayer who pays $4,000 or more in qualified expenses for an eligible student.
- The full credit is available for taxpayers whose modified adjusted gross income (MAGI) is $80,000 or less (for married couples filing a joint return, the limit is $160,000 or less). The credit is phased out for taxpayers with incomes above these levels. These income limits are higher than under the existing Hope and lifetime learning credits.

This credit is only allowed for the first four years of post-secondary education. Graduate students may still qualify for the lifetime learning credit and the tuition and fees deduction. For details on these and other education-related tax benefits, see Publication 970.

What are “Scholarships”?

Scholarships are a form of financial aid that is awarded to students for outstanding academics, community service, extra-curricular activities or other skills they poses. Scholarship applications must be filled out and sent to the awarding organization. Scholarships do not have to be repaid.

Applications are available at your school, parents work, church, local stores and organizations. Fill in the application completely following the directions exactly. Have someone proofread your application for spelling and accuracy. Double check the deadline as applications may be rejected if they arrive late.

The scholarship form may ask for a letter of recommendation, so plan ahead by gathering personal information in a resume to give to the writer. Think of possible writers for these recommendations - people who know you well and can write positively about you.

Keep a copy of each application along with the essay. You may be able to edit the essay and use it for other scholarships. Notify your counseling office or Career Center when you receive scholarship awards.

There is NEVER any reason to pay $$$$ to get scholarships or financial aid information.

There are “scholarship” companies that invite students & parents to evening or weekend meetings or via Internet to sign up for their services. Costs range from $160 to $900! You can get all of this for free at school or other places on the Internet!

Scholarship Sources are everywhere...

- Employers - check with company where you, your parents, even grandparents work.
- Volunteer work - some organizations reward their volunteers with grants or scholarships for higher education.
- Organizations/Clubs - many professional and social groups offer scholarships for their members or member's children. Check with professional organizations in your field of study. If you or a parent are a veteran - you may qualify for financial assistance.
- Military - if your parent is a veteran, you may qualify for financial assistance.
- Unions - unions to which you or your parents belong.
- High School - groups on campus may have scholarships available each year.
- PSAT - results from this test generate scholarships such as National Merit Scholarship.
- Churches - local churches and their headquarters may have scholarships available for their members.
- Library - reference sections of local libraries have several scholarship books for you to search through.
- Internet - there are dozens of free scholarship search sites - one of the best is www.fastweb.com.
- Newspapers - a story or an advertisement may include a scholarship or program to which you may apply.

Polishing Your Scholarship Essays

Scholarship committee readers do not know you

You need to tell them:

- who you are
- what your goals are for next 2-10 years
- how you arrived at these goals
- what influenced you
 - people
 - special experiences
 - personal values
 - explain what is important to you and why

Neatness counts! read ALL instructions before beginning

- follow the instructions EXACTLY !
- type rather than write by hand

Make your application stand out

- be as creative as the instructions will allow
- include a picture of yourself

Allow 1 week for letters of recommendation to be written

- give writer your resume, goal statement and any other information needed
- send a hand written thank you note after receiving the recommendation

Have an adult read over the application & offer feedback

Order transcript (if needed) from your Counseling Office

- request must be made at least 3-4 days ahead of deadline -
- leave completed application and other materials for mailing along with the transcript – your school will mail them for you!

Have you already earned college credit?

High schools offer several opportunities for students to earn college credit while attending high school.

1. Advanced Placement Courses

- students receive accelerated high school credit, as well as have an opportunity to earn college credit, by scoring well on the AP tests in May

2. College-Level Examination Program (C.L.E.P.)

- colleges offer an opportunity to earn credit by successfully passing a test in a single subject & determine the amount of credit earned
- there is a fee for C.L.E.P. tests

3. ACE or other Community College Credit

- select students enrolled in this program have earned community college credit for classes taken through this program
- remember to submit an ACE+ transcript along with college application

4. Vocational training courses

- local high school coursework such as Fire Science, CNA certification, & other West-Med courses may result in community college credit
- Automotive program at Glendale Community College earns community college credit
- see you counselor for other possible opportunities

How to get accepted at Arizona Universities...

You must have one of the following:

3.0 GPA in 16 Core classes OR top 25% of graduating class OR

SAT score of 1040 or greater OR

ACT score of 22 or greater AND successfully completed the required high school coursework

SAT & ACT- What's the difference?

Colleges and universities use both the SAT and ACT to evaluate students for acceptance into their schools. Many schools will accept scores from either test, while others may require you to take a certain exam. Use the chart below to help you choose which exam you think you would score higher on.

ACT (www.actstudent.org)

215 questions
 no order of difficulty
 heavy in grammar & reading tested on Algebra, Geometry & Trig
 Math = 25% of score
 based on school curriculum not as tricky/less distractions
 no guessing penalty
 Science reasoning section
 English grammar tested
 optional writing piece
 Scoring 0 –36

SAT (www.sat.collegeboard.org)

154 questions (4 multiple choice answers) proceeds in an order of difficulty heavy in meaning of words tested on Algebra & Geometry
 Math = 50% of score
 evidence based writing & reading more reading comprehension guessing penalty
 no Science
 no English grammar
 optional writing piece
 Scoring 400 – 1600

Applications are completed online. The process takes about 45 minutes. You will need to report your grades by subjects on the application. You will also be required to download a picture to be printed on the entrance ticket to be used the morning of the test.

College Athletic Eligibility Centers

NCAA

If you plan to participate in Division I or II athletics or transfer later, you must register with the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA). Apply online at: www.eligibilitycenter.org

The NCAA is an organization that has established rules of eligibility, recruiting and financial aid, and regulates most college athletic programs. NCAA qualification is determined by the student's GPA and test scores.

Steps required to completing the registration:

- complete registration form
- submit test scores & high school transcript
- submit the $75 fee or fee waiver papers

Contact NCAA:

Mail: P.O. Box 7136
Indianapolis, IN 46207

Phone: 877-262-1492 8-6 p.m. (Eastern Time) Mon-Fri
Fax: 317-986-5100

Students must submit their SAT or ACT scores directly to the college of their choice as well as to the NCAA Clearinghouse. The NCAA code for the SAT and ACT is 9999.

NAIA

Over 300 colleges use NAIA. They award full & partial scholarships to athletes in Divisions I and II. Apply online at: www.playnaia.org.

To qualify, students must have a 3.0 GPA at the end of their Junior year or at least a 2.0 GPA at the end of the first semester of their Senior year. Students must rank in the top 50% of their class. Students must have an ACT score of 18 or SAT score of 860 in order to play at a NAIA college.

Steps required to completing the registration:

- complete registration form
- submit test scores & high school transcript
- submit the $70 fee or fee waiver papers

Students must submit their SAT or ACT scores directly to the college of their choice as well as to the NAIA. The NAIA code for the SAT and ACT is 9876.

Contact NAIA:

Mail: PO Box 15340
Kansas City, MO 64106

Glossary of Terms

Acceptance: candidate has been admitted, having met the standards set by the college or school.

Accreditation: recognition of a college/university by a regional or national accrediting body indicating that the institution has met their standards.

ACT Assessment: college entrance exam that is required by many colleges as part of the admission process. ACT measures abilities in English, Math, Reading and Science.

Advanced Placement: high schools implement AP courses and administer the exams at the end of the school year. College credit is granted dependent upon success on the exam.

Apprenticeship: during a prescribed time period, a worker learns an occupation (usually a trade) in a structured program.

Associate Degree: a degree that is granted after the satisfactory completion of a two year program of study - usually at a community college.

ASVAB: a test that is taken by those wishing to enter the military. This test shows your ability to learn certain skills and your interests. Many schools give this test to their juniors.

Award letter: a letter telling you what financial aid a college is offering you. You may choose to accept some or all of what is offered.

Bachelor's Degree: a degree that is granted after the satisfactory completion of a four year program of study-usually at a college or university.

College Entrance Exams: tests that are used by colleges or universities for evaluation of applicants for admission and/or placement in courses. Tests used most often are SAT, ACT and Accuplacer.

College calendars: May be any of the following:
Traditional semester: 2 equal semesters
Quarter: 3 equal terms of 12 weeks
Trimester: 3 equal semesters (3rd one replaces summer school)
4-1-4: 2 equal terms of 16 weeks with 4 week interim term

Community College (Junior College): regionally accredited, post-secondary institution where an associate's degree is the highest degree awarded. Certification programs and non-credit courses are also available.

Core classes (CPA): a calculation of grades earned in Math, English, Science, Social Studies, Foreign Language and Fine Arts.

College transfer courses: courses intended for transfer of college credit to a bachelor's degree program in a 4 year college or university.

Cost of Attendance (COA): price of attending a college for one year.

Credit (or Credit Hour): a unit of measurement for fulfilling course requirements. Most colleges require that you complete a certain number in order to graduate.

Class rank: a student's standing in his/her graduating class that is based on GPA and honors classes. It is expressed in percentages.

Deferred Admission: the postponing of admission for one year after being accepted into the college or university.

Early action: an accelerated application process for certain colleges and universities.

Enrollment status: an indicator of whether you are attending part-time or full-time.

Expected Family Contribution (EFC): amount a student and their family are expected to contribute financially toward cost of attendance.

Job Shadowing: a program by which a student observes employees in a workplace to gain insight about a career or job field.

Letter of Recommendation: a letter that supports a student's application to a college for a scholarship. The letter is written by someone who knows you well (not a family member) who can write positively about you.

Loans: Money that is borrowed to pay for higher education and must be paid back with or without interest.

Major course of study: a course of study in one subject in which the student specializes in at a college or university.

Minor course of study: a course of study in a secondary subject in which the student specializes in at a college or university.

NCAA & NAIA: the organizations that certifies athletes for competition in Division I & II intercollegiate athletics.

Open Admissions: students are admitted regardless of academic qualifications community colleges have an open admission policy.

Out-of-State Students: students attending a public university outside of their state. Higher tuition rates may apply until state residency is established.

Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test (PSAT): a practice test for underclassmen to prepare for the SAT. National Merit Scholars are chosen from this test.

Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC): Air Force, Army and Navy programs at the college level that combines military education with bachelor's degree study. A commitment to military service is part of this college program.

Resume: an outline of your life as a high school student that contains information about your education, jobs, community service and educational and career goals.

Rolling Admission: an admission procedure by which colleges considers completed applications for admission on a continuing basis.

SAT Assessment: a college entrance exam that is required by most colleges and universities. SAT is required by most colleges to measure math and verbal skills. A writing assessment is now optional.

Scholarship: a merit based award of money to be used for college costs.

Student Aid Report (SAR): notifies a student that their FAFSA has been processed. The SAR also may alert you to errors that need to be corrected before money can be awarded.

Transcript: an official record of high school and/or college courses and grades.

Undergraduate Student: a student who has not completed a baccalaureate (usually 4 years) or first professional degree
